

#SKIPSOFWHITECROSS

Elizabeth Campbell

I moved to Whitecross in 2015 and noticed how many skips were around. I decided to start documenting them using the hashtag #skipsofwhitecross on instagram. Since then many other #skipsof hashtags have popped up including #skipsoflondon and #skipsofdublin. Often the photo's are taken whilst I'm walking or travelling in a car so they come out a bit blurry. I decided to make a zine of the images in order to have a hard copy, something to hold and as a general document to sort of evidence the building work in the whitecross area.
